

An introduction to Income Protection

What Is Income Protection?

Income Protection is a type of insurance that pays you a regular income if you're unable to work because of illness or injury.

Income Protection could help you pay...

- Mortgage or rent payments
- Household bills
- Childcare costs
- School and university fees
- Car loans
- Other financial commitments

How does it work?

You pay a monthly premium, and if you become too ill or injured to work, we pay you a monthly income until you sufficiently recover or reach age 65, whichever comes first.

Why should you consider Income Protection?

Would your household savings be enough to cover the bills and life's essentials if you or your partner become unable to work?

Without this, you could face not having enough money if you become ill:

- to pay your rent or mortgage
- to meet your existing bills
- to maintain your lifestyle

Some examples of people who should consider Income Protection...

- You couldn't cover all your outgoings if you get sick
- Your employer provides very little cover or just Statutory Sick Pay £99.35 per week for just 28 weeks*
- You are self-employed and have no cover in place
- You're a single income household
- You're the main income earner or your household rely on a significant portion of your income
